Growth of School Since Founding in 1899 Rapid—New Head Has Remarkable Career of Service

EXPECTED TO BUILD UP SCHOOL IN LINCOLN'S STEPS

HARROGATE, Nov. 9.—Robert Orville Matthews, D.D., LL.D., who will be formally inaugurated president of Lincoln Memorial University on November 12 is the fifth to occupy that office since the founding of the school in 1897, by the Rev. A. A. Myers, of Hillsdale, Mich.

Cyrus Kerr served for a short time as head of the new university and was succeeded by John Hale Larry, who served until 1901. Doctor Larry's resignation, W. L. Stoochbury now of Knoxville, was appointed and served until 1910, when Dr. Geo. A. Hubbell became president of the University. Dr. Hubbell resigned in 1922 to become president of the Asheville university and in May 1923, Doctor Matthews was selected by the Board of Directors to occupy the presidential chair of Lincoln Memorial University.

From the first the growth of the school has been rapid. The plans for the founding of the school first had their inception in the mind of Rev. A. A. Myers, the founder of the old Harrow school at Cumberland Gap. Many of the graduates of the Harrow school wished a college education but could not go away from home to secure it and the Reverend Myers saw to the failure of the magnificent Four Seasons Hotel at Harrogate an opportunity for the new school of higher education so necessary to a fuller development of this mountain region. With the help of Gen. O. O. Howard who gave the last years of his life toward the promotion of the university, Chas. F. Bager, then of Cumberland Gap and later of Knoxville, Millard Orrison, of Cumberland Gap, and Dr. F. B. Avery of Cleveland, O. Mr. Myers bought the beautifully-planned estate of the Four Seasons Hotel, which had been wrecked, and named it Lincoln Memorial University.

The sanitation which had been connected with the hotel, was the first building of the new school. It was christened Grant-Lee Hall, symbol of a re-united country, and the colors chosen for the school were the Union Blue and the Confederate Gray. It is a noteworthy fact that among the school's most ardent supporters were Gen. O. O. Howard, the first general manager of the school and one of Lincoln's best loved soldiers, and Col. Robert F. Patterson, the first vice-president of the University, who had fought with every ounce of his strength for the Confederacy.

Each of the passing years brought a larger growth to the University. With the help of its friends throughout the land who are appreciative of its value as a unique educational institution, in 20 years it has increased its facilities from one building which housed all the students, teachers and workers to an institution which accommodates upwards of 800 students each year. The buildings which may be seen by a rapid walk over the campus are: The students' house, Norton hall, the girls' dormitory, the Conservatory of music, formerly the palatial residence of Col. A. A. Arthur, who conceived the idea of Harrogate as an all-year resort; the dairy and stock barns said to be among the best equipped in Tennessee; the Nancy Hanks tea room; Avery hall, now devoted entirely to recitation rooms; the auditorium; Carnegie library, Smith-Hughes vocational agriculture building; Tennessee J. A. R. hall for temporary residence of the Nancy Hanks Industries; the best building, equipped for the teaching of engineering; the Hubbard Memorial building, which houses the manual art for boys; printing office; and a dozen or more cottages for teachers and workers.

President Matthews has come to Lincoln Memorial University with a wealth of experience gained in a varied active and serviceable career. For a number of years he was pastor of three of the largest Methodist churches in the country: for five years at St. Paul's Methodist church of Toledo, O., for four years at St. Paul's Methodist church of Cincinnati, O.; for three years at the First Methodist church at Des Moines, Ia. He was on detached service for the army and Red Cross during the war and so strenuous were his activities in all the major offensives that he was practically an invalid

Another Enlistment

Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, has signed up for another "hitch" in the Red Cross. And the recruiting officer, who gets the credit, is little Beverley Moffett, five-year-old daughter of Rear Admiral William A. Moffett. Her father, you know, is chief of the naval air service. By Thanksgiving, the American Red Cross hopes to enroll 5,000,000 members for the ensuing year.

BOSWORTH WILL FIGHT COAL TAX

Doesn't Think Fields Favors It—
Work for Good Roads in This Section

With aggressive action for good roads for this section and with intentions to fight any legislation tending to impair the coal industry of the state, Joe F. Bosworth, representative elect, will begin his term in the Kentucky legislature in January.

"I shall try to keep the Straight Creek-Pineville road like it is," he stated, "that is, to prevent the route being changed to make it go through Barbourville. Also, I shall do all I can for the Middlesboro-Pondre road proposition and try to make it a part of the Dixie Highway." The proposition of improving this road is already under consideration of the Bell county court.

Judge Bosworth is of the opinion that the new governor may reappoint the present highway board. This would be beneficial for this section, he said, for H. H. Asher, at present a member of the board, will certainly continue to use his influence for good roads here.

In regard to a possible coal tonnage tax, the representative elect is of the opinion that Fields will not favor such a measure. "He is a mountain man and knows his problems and is therefore not likely to favor any measure that will hinder the development of the coal industry," he spoke very highly of Fields, saying there is not a more upright and conscientious man in the state.

BELL COUNTY DOCTORS TO MEET IN PINEVILLE TONIGHT

The regular monthly meeting of the Bell County Medical Society will be held at the Continental hotel at Pineville at 8 o'clock tonight. The program arranged for the meeting follows: A paper by Dr. Titus Ramsey on "Treatment of Fracture by Open Method" will be read, also one by Dr. U. G. Bennett, his subject being "Fracture of Lower Extremities."

Buy Alcohol For Radiators

With the advent of cold weather, automobile owners are beginning to buy alcohol to prevent freezing of radiators, according to local garage men. The weather has been below freezing point this year and the present cold weather indicates a low temperature for the next few days.

at the close of the war. He returned to America, and after convalescing under the government's care and after spending a year on the plains of Texas, his health was completely recovered.

President Matthews is democratic. He believes in the people of Appalachia as a great reservoir of American democracy; he believes in Lincoln Memorial University as the embodiment of the spirit of that kindly apostle of democracy, Lincoln. And because he does believe all these things he has come to accept the presidency of a school whose foundation stone is "equality of opportunity" and which has been rightly called "The Opportunity School of the Cumberland."

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE CALLS ON NATION TO GIVE THANKS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—President Coolidge's Thanksgiving Day proclamation for the white house calls to mind that the year has brought to the American people two tragic experiences—the death of President Harding and the Japanese earthquake—but says that such experiences serve to test and refine men and nations.

During the year also, the proclamation says the nation has been blessed with much of material prosperity. The president asked that the people gather on Thursday, November 29, to give expression to their gratitude and seek the guidance of Almighty God that they may deserve a continuance of his favor.

The proclamation follows:

"By the president of the United States of America.

"A proclamation.

"The American people, from their earliest days, have observed the wise custom of acknowledging each year the bounty with which divine providence has favored them. In the beginning this acknowledgment was a voluntary return of thanks by the community for the fruitfulness of the harvest. Though our mode of life has greatly changed, this custom has always survived. It has made Thanksgiving day not only one of the oldest but one of the most characteristic observances of our country.

Hopeful For Future

"To center our thought in this way upon the favor which we have been shown has been altogether wise and desirable. It has given opportunity justly to balance the good and the evil which we have experienced. In that we have never failed to find reasons for being grateful to God for a generous preponderance of the good. Even in the least propitious times a broad contemplation of our whole position has never failed to disclose overwhelming reasons for thankfulness. Thus reviewing our situation we have found warrant for a more hopeful and confident attitude toward the future.

"In this eventful year we now approach the time which has been accepted by custom as most fitting for calm survey of our estate and the return of thanks. We shall the more keenly realize our good fortune if we will, in deep sincerity give to it due thought and more especially, if we will compare it with that of other communities in the world.

Death of Harding

"The year has brought to my people two tragic experiences which have deeply affected them. One was the death of our beloved president Harding, which has been mourned wherever there is a realization of the worth of high ideals, noble purposes and useful service carried even to the end of supreme sacrifice. His loss recalled the nation to a loss capacious and more charitable attitude. It sobered the whole thought of the country. A little later came the unparalleled disaster to the friendly people of Japan. This called forth from the people of the United States a demonstration of deep and humane feeling. It was wrought into the substance of good works. It created new evidence of our national friendship which is a guarantee of world peace. It replenished the charitable impulse of the country.

Nation Blessed

"By experiences such as these, men and nations are tested and refined. We have been blessed with much of material prosperity. We shall be better able to appreciate it if we remember the privations others have suffered, and we shall be the more worthy of it if we use it for their relief. We will do well then to render thanks for the good that has come to us, and show by our actions that we have become stronger, wiser, and truer by the chastenings which have been imposed upon us. We will thus prepare ourselves for the part we must have in a world which forever needs the full measure of service. We have been a most generous people. We have been a most blessed people. We ought to be a most thankful people.

"Wherefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, president of the United States, do hereby fix and designate Thursday, the twenty-ninth day of November, as Thanksgiving Day, and recommend its general observance throughout the land. It is urged that the people gather in their usual place of worship, give expression to their gratitude for the benefits and blessings that a gracious providence has bestowed upon them, and seek the guidance of Almighty God that they may deserve a continuance of His favor.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the United States.

"Done at the City of Washington, this 5th day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred and twenty-three, and of the Independence of the United States, the one hundred and forty-eighth.

"CALVIN COOLIDGE."

M. T. McKee, American Legion Officer Comes to Plan Armistice Day Service

Mark T. McKee, of Detroit, a trustee of Lincoln Memorial University, arrived in Middlesboro this morning to be here over Sunday and Monday for the L. M. U. management exercises. This is Mr. McKee's first visit to the University, or to this section, and he decided to come earlier and become better acquainted with it.

Mr. McKee is vice chairman of the national American Legion, and he will have charge of plans for the Armistice Day celebration to be held at the University Sunday morning. A very interesting program is planned for this occasion and Mr. McKee will be one of the speakers.

Mr. McKee complimented Middlesboro for its progressive appearance and seemed surprised when he learned its population was as small as it is.

STATEMENT BY J. L. MANRING

Defeated Commissioner Candidate He Will Stand by Men Elected

J. L. Manring, who was defeated for city commissioner in the election Tuesday, makes the following statement to the citizens of Middlesboro:

To the citizens of Middlesboro:

I wish to say that although defeated in the race for commissioner, my interest in the future growth and prosperity of the city is undiminished, and I shall still, to the extent of my ability, stand for all that may advance its interests and its prosperity.

To my friends and supporters I tender my grateful thanks from a heart overflowing with appreciation for unwavering support, and for those who opposed me in the race, I have nothing but the kindest feelings. Defeat has aroused no enmity in my heart, and I sincerely hope and trust that the gentlemen who won out in the election may have a successful administration, and to them I tender my hearty co-operation and assistance in all things that may advance the best interests of the city. I have faith in their honesty, integrity and ability, and ask for them the cordial and hearty cooperation of all good citizens in all their efforts to secure a greater and better Middlesboro.

I congratulate them on the honors bestowed, and the faith manifested by the voters in them, and from the depths of my heart wish them success in the management of the city's affairs, and to those who supported me, I ask of them the same support and aid to those men chosen to represent the city, that would have been afforded me in the event of my election. Defeat has left no sting in my heart, or I have no vain longings, regrets or enemies to prevent me from rejoicing in a successful administration of the affairs of the city. I am satisfied with the voters' choice, and in the future, as in the past, shall spare no efforts to advance the city's interests. I am willing to serve in the ranks, and denied a commission will cheerfully accept the place of a private in a rear rank.

If I cannot be a Moses, I can, at least enact the role of an Aaron and help uplift the aims of those chosen to bear the burdens.

What is needed to insure the future growth and prosperity of this city is the hearty and sincere co-operation of citizens and officials, and this can best be secured by the laying aside of all petty jealousies and suspicions, and the giving of credit where credit is due for the good that is done. It is not the part of wisdom to mourn over past mistakes; rather let us profit by them and live and act in the present, and with an eye to the future. My interests are here, and what will benefit you will benefit me. I am, like other citizens, interested in an economic administration of the city's affairs, but remembering the old adage, I do not believe in being "penny wise and pound foolish."

Again thanking my true friends and supporters, and congratulating Mr. Evans and Mr. Cook, I am with no regrets, no enmities nor bad feelings.

REVOLUTIONISTS TAKE REFUGE IN WAR MINISTRY

Leaders are Captured
BERLIN, Nov. 9.—(Late Bulletin)—General Ludendorff and Adolf Hitler, leaders in the Bavarian Revolt, have been captured by federal troops.

Associated Press

The National Putsch, staged in Munich, capital of Bavaria, by General Ludendorff and Adolf Hitler, has been suppressed and Von Poehner, named proclamer by the revolutionists, is under arrest, according to trustworthy advisers. Ludendorff and Hitler, who last night proclaimed themselves respectively military dictator and chancellor of all Germany, are reported barricaded in Munich with troops loyal to the government surrounding them. Advances from Berlin and other centers show German troops have ranged themselves against the Ludendorff-Hitler organization and that the coup is confined almost wholly to the Munich brew house in which it was staged. Meanwhile Berlin is quiet.

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—The outbreak at Munich has been suppressed. Former Chief of Police Von Poehner is arrested. General Ludendorff and Adolf Hitler, leaders in the movement apparently designed to sweep away the republic and establish the monarchy in Germany, barricaded themselves in the war ministry. All other buildings are held by loyal soldiers. The great "Putsch" is considered to have ended.

A THOUGHT

Every man according as he purports in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity; for God loveth a cheerful giver.—2 Cor. 9:7.

Posthumous charities are the very essence of selfishness, when bequeathed by those who, when alive, would part with nothing.—Colton.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

Business has entered into the final quarter of the year with production less active in certain lines than it was a month ago but still large in volume and sustained by the conservative requirements of a well employed population.

Stocks of manufacturers are showing little accumulation. One reason for this is that people do not care to produce more goods than they are reasonably sure they can sell. Another reason and a very important one is that domestic consumption is big and has shown little evidence of decline. This is encouraging in view of the heavy production facilities of the country as a whole, and also because European countries have not yet reached the stage where much dependence can be placed on trade with them.

The purchasing power of a great majority of the people is high. Agricultural conditions are showing a steady improvement and it is the opinion of those in close touch with the farm trade that farmers in certain sections are cutting into the market for those necessities which they have needed for the past three years.

Orders in some lines are slowing down but this may be taken as indicating a decline in forward buying rather than a reduction in the buying power of the ultimate consumer. The decline in forward buying may be due to the fact that efficient transportation facilities make possible prompt shipments.

In the light of the present encouraging showing of industry and trade, therefore, and judging by the conservatively optimistic reports received this month direct from our Fourth District manufacturers, there is little evidence of a pessimistic trend of mind.

It is true that business is not rushing as it was last spring. Good business, however, does not necessarily have to be boom business. We are altogether too much inclined to use boom periods as yardsticks.

High production facilities and dependence upon home consumption naturally make for increasing competition. Consequently 1921 business plans are being made with a view to greater efficiency.

In this connection various national organizations and industrial concerns are making efforts to level seasonal peaks and hollows to some extent by means of more consistent year round business.

Ideas along this line have been developed in their practical limit in certain industries. Changing styles and the whims of the buying public make "year round" business impractical in others. For instance, it would be folly to ignore climatic changes which produce variations in requirements. Interesting experiments, however, have proven that many of these seasonal conditions have been unconsciously magnified at great cost.

Considerable leveling has been accomplished by means of standardization and "straight line" production; also by the introduction of new and improved lines during the off season. Another leveling method is the offering of special price concessions during full periods.

In some industries warehousing facilities are being provided in different sections of the country in order to avoid the redistribution of goods. Notwithstanding the greater investment, which are necessary, it is feared that this is working toward economies.

Quite probably there will always be seasonal tendencies, but the fact that remedial efforts are being made should work toward at least a partial solution of the problem caused by wide fluctuations. Monthly Business Review.

THE PROGRAM
AT L. M. U.

A remarkable program has been prepared for the inauguration exercises at Lincoln Memorial University, Smith and Monday, a program on which appears the names of more national prominent men, probably than would be found outside of Washington, D. C. All of these people are coming, too, for one reason, because they have such a deep interest in this school for the mountain people.

We people of Middlesboro and the communities immediately surrounding the University have never really appreciated the true worth of this school, possibly because we were so close to it and so well acquainted with the minut details of it that we overlooked the glory of its ensemble. The proper perspective is also necessary for appreciation of a beautiful picture, a landscape or a stage setting. The same rule applies elsewhere.

But when we see so many prominent people of the east, the north, and the capital so vitally interested in this institution that they leave big business interests and affairs of state to come down here and take part in the inauguration of the University's new president, we are awakened to the fact that we have been overlooking one of the greatest things in this whole section.

Let us endeavor to become better acquainted with this school, its purposes and its accomplishments. And let us do this first by attending the exercises Sunday and Monday at the University and learn there what these men who have come from all parts of the country see in this school.

Adventures of The Twins

By Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 12—MISTER TURKEY BUZZARD'S FAVOR

"I'm Mistah Turkey Buzzard," said the big bird with a twinkle in his eye.

Nancy and Nick had climbed up into a cottonwood tree in Dixie Land when they noticed a big bird flying slowly around in circles over their heads.

Each circle was a little lower than the others and pretty soon, with a couple of flaps of his great wings, the bird settled on the ground at their feet.

"Good day," he said hospitably.

"What you all doing?"

"Why," answered Nick, "We're just sitting here. The Fairy Queen sent us to see if everybody in Dixie Land was all right. What's your name, please?"

"I'm Mister Turkey Buzzard," said the big bird with a twinkle in his eye.

"Did you south head see consider it polite for strangers to tell their names first?"

"Were Nancy and Nick, the Twins?" answered Nancy, who felt that Nick had done enough talking.

"And now, Mister Turkey Buzzard, have you any seed?"

"Not so many," answered Mister Buzzard. "But still I have a few. I'll be going. And I'll just take Cottonmouth along."

With one dive of his bent back, he took a few more mice and beetles and hunk down to Dixie Land. Also a few bees and wasps, rather a little snake, the worst fellow in all great many bees and wasps and hornais and yellow jackets."

Twins could say a word to thank him.

"Why not?" asked Nick. "What do you want all those things for?"

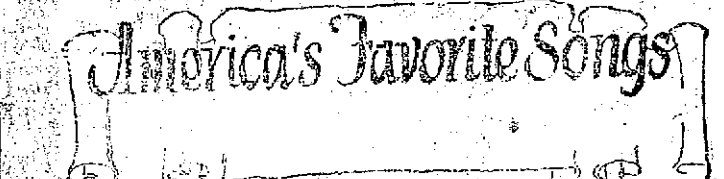

"To eat, of course," said Mister Turkey Buzzard. "What did you think I wanted them for? To give me?"

"Well, I'm not going to tell the Fairy Queen that!" declared the little boy.

"Well then," said Nick, "I can get it. But there! After all, down south here, we don't usually ask favors of our guests. We try to please them. And if you don't mind, going friends, I'm going to try to do something for you. I am going to give you lives. That's what I flew down here for. When I was away up in the sky, I looked down and saw you but, my sharp eyes saw something else, too. I saw to myself right then, see I, Mister Buzzard, sir, if you don't hurry down there those two children are going to get hurt, for as sure as anything, there's old Cottonmouth Mowman asleep right under their tree."

"So that, if you'll please excuse me, I'll be going. And I'll just take Cottonmouth along."

With one dive of his bent back, Mister Turkey Buzzard grabbed the little snake, the worst fellow in all Dixie Land, and flew away before the twins could say a word to thank him.

"Dr. Simon, an expert, says drugs cost this nation every year a loss of $1,825,000,000. That sum represents the value of drugs used and the wasted energy and services of drug victims.

"All hungry people in the world could be fed and clothed, all public and Mrs. Polly Ticket," humorous play presented by Miss Elizabeth Spence at the school auditorium Wednesday night for the benefit of the Christian church building fund. The comedy was well received by the audience.

The picture is commended by the national W. C. T. U.

"MR. AND MRS. POLLY TICKET" WELL RECEIVED WED. NIGHT

Approximately 300 persons saw "Mr.

The principal scenes of the play depicted the humorous state of affairs brought about by women's rights in 1975. As might be expected, the present order of things is reversed at that advanced date, men doing work versa. The costumes worn by the actors were splendid.

There were about twenty persons in the cast, among which the following deserve special mention: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Campbell as Mr. and Mrs. Polly Ticket; Elizabeth Hurst as Daisy Ann Gray; Philip Arthur as Billy Sampson; and Mrs. Luther Burnett as Zella Highbrow. Songs by the large chorus and music by the orchestra were diversions between the acts.

WE do not call an event of this kind a sale, because we do not like the term. We call it News, and you'll call it good news when you see the actual merchandise.

FURNITURE, THE GIFT THAT ENDURES

Two and Three Piece Suites

NO doubt the small Living Room found in the average apartment today is responsible for the Two-Piece Suite which consists of a Davenport and a chair—the rocker has lost out. That doesn't mean you can't have more than one chair in the living room, however. You can have as many more as you like, but they must not match.

This two piece Living Room Suite is upholstered in a figured tapestry.

Over-hulkiness, too, is a thing of the passed in Overstuffed Furniture and just as much comfort may be found in these more graceful designs.

Coziness is the result of Careful Room Arrangement

GIVEN the same things to work with, several women would arrange them in a room so differently that you would scarcely know the objects were the same. Whereupon many have marvelled at the "mystery of Genius" in room-arrangement.

But actually of course, the "mystery" dissolves as soon as one observes that any person with this "genius" for making a room charming manages it through the forming of groups and placing them.

Have you difficulty in arranging your furniture? We shall be glad to help you if you have.

A Reposeful Corner That Any Room May Claim

A CORNER like this need not be confined to the living room. The bedroom or any other room where there is a cold empty corner can claim it.

The large overstuffed Reading Chair is covered in plain and brocaded velour. It sells for $50.00

The book Table is combination mahogany and is very inexpensive at $7.50.

The Reading Lamp has a metal standard and a parchment shade that is easy on the eyes. It is priced at $14.00.

The quaint Rag Rug seems to complete the picture and it sells for $5.00.

THE manufacturer of this Library Table has not only succeeded in making it different but artistic and practical as well. It comes in combination walnut and mahogany.

PINEVILLE WOMAN'S CLUB MEETING

Interesting Program Given at Home of Mrs. Mays Wednesday Afternoon

PINEVILLE, Nov. 9.—The Pineville Woman's Club held its meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Grover C. May. The program was under the leadership of Mrs. Robert Atkins, Chairman of the Department of Education. The meeting was opened by reading the Club Woman's Creed, as follows: "Keep us, O God, from pettiness; let us be large in thought, in word in deed. Let us be done with fault finding and meet each other face to face, without self pity and without prejudice."

"May we never be hasty in judgment and always generous. Let us take time for all things; make us to grow calm, serene, gentle. Teach us to put into action our better impulses, straight forward and unafraid. Grant that we may realize that it is the little things that create differences; that in the big things of life we are one."

"And may we strive to touch, and to know, the great common woman's heart of us all; and, O Lord, let us not forget to be kind."

Mrs. Montgomery gave a delightful talk on the position Kentucky holds in the educational world.

The entire club led by Mrs. Ray B. Moss accompanied by Mrs. Grover C. May at the piano then sang "America."

Rev. Howard Braxton delivered an inspiring address on "Woman in Literature." He spoke of woman's place in literary work of the past both as the heroine and as the author, and then of the unlimited opportunities in both present and future in the fields of Fiction and Journalism.

The business meeting was called to order by Mrs. Will Wood. Mrs. W. B. Myers, secretary, gave the minutes of the October meeting, which were approved and adopted. Following were the reports of the chairmen of the different departments.

Mrs. Edwin W. Brown was appointed chairman of a committee to furnish a room in the Continental Hospital and to look after the general comforts of the patients who were assigned to this room.

Mrs. C. K. Culver read a splendid report on the Child's Welfare Clinic held under the auspices of the Woman's Club at the Court House in connection with the Bureau of Child Hygiene.

FIGHT YESTERDAY IN PINEVILLE-MIDDLESBORO BUS

PINEVILLE, Nov. 9.—Bill Stone, driver of a Middlesboro-Pineville bus, was confined in jail here yesterday morning on charges of disorderly conduct and fighting.

According to several witnesses, Stone, who was apparently under the influence of drink, had locked the bus and refused to open it for Jack Asher, proprietor of the bus line. The latter, with others, succeeded in prying open the windshield and prepared to drive away. Stone objected to this and started trouble during which two shots were fired. The participants claim the shooting was accidental. Stone was slightly wounded about the head which the deputies say was caused by one of the bullets.

NEGRO CUTTING AFFRAY IN HIMYAR REPORTED

James Smith, colored, was brought to the Continental Hospital here Wednesday with severe cuts and wounds inflicted in the neck and body by Robert Doice, another negro.

According to Smith, the affray originated over the breakfast table. Later Doice, so Smith relates, came to his back and cut him four times, three of them missed arteries by fractions of inches. Smith is resting well at the hospital. Doice had not been apprehended at the time of this writing.

Your Health

Health in Fasting

The chief reason for many diseases is over-eating. The old English maxim: "Rise from the table with an appetite and you will never sit down without one," is good logic and health advice as well.

Heavyweights frequently appeal for aid in removing non-working fat tissue. The best advice would be: eat less, fast more, drink plenty of water and hit the highway for healthy hikes.

Fasting is one of the greatest medicines, or shall I say remedies, for the correction of digestive troubles, such as belching, sour stomach, liver trouble.

Recipes of Pullman Chefs

Braised Chicken, Spanish Style

Cube some salt pork and cut up dry onions, as desired. Fry together. Pour in together, when browned, one can mushrooms, one cup fresh peas, one cup tomatoes, one tablespoon paprika, two tablespoons of garlic, salt and red pepper. Cook fast, sprinkle flour and brown.

If you like spaghetti, try the kind Cook James H. Davis prepares for Rodolph Valentino, the original sheik of movie and stage land. And Rudy is one sheik who likes his spaghetti the real Italian way. Here it is:

Purée of Lentils

Boil two cups of dry lentils in three cups of water until soft. Mash through cheese strainer in same water. Add one teaspoon butter, one cup cream, some salt and pepper and a few drops of Maggi sauce.

Cook J. E. Birse, from the Philadelphia commissary, offers these two:

Pappovers

Two cups flour, 1 quart milk, 1-4 teaspoonful salt, 6 eggs.

Beat up eggs, mix in flour, milk and salt and beat well. This will make twelve pappovers.

Cinnamon Buns

gav and butter. Roll up and cut in slices about 1 inch thick. Bake in moderate oven.

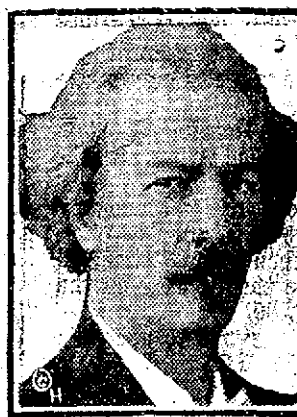

Now look over these recipes offered by Chief R. E. Harris:

Crab Gumbo, Southern Style

One-half pound ham, 2 medium size onions, 1 large green pepper, 1 No. 2 can tomatoes, 1 quart okra (fresh), garlic to taste, 4 medium size crabs, salt, pepper and paprika to taste.

Clean the crabs by pulling the backs off; remove the "dead men" and break in four parts. Wash well and lay off clean towel to dry. While crabs are drying, cut ham, onions and green peppers in small pieces, also okra. Braize the ham over a slow fire. As it turns a golden brown add onions, green peppers, garlic, tomatoes and lastly the okra. Then add 1 1/2 quarts of hot stock to the pot. If you have no stock, use hot water. Lastly add the crabs and let simmer over a slow fire 1 1/2 hours.

While that is cooking, prepare one cup of well-washed rice, plain boiled. When serving, place tablespoon of rice in center of plate and pour gumbo all around with piece of crab on each side of rice.

COOK GAUDNER

ing layers of spaghetti and cheese. Cover with Paoli sauce.

The service should have started with soup. But even at this point it would not be amiss to detail one of Cook James Cooper's favorite recipes. As a soup expert he's proven his worth to such persons as Paderevski, John McCormack, Senator W. A. Clark, the late Sarah Bernhardt and the late able, diabetes and heartburn. How, when and how long fasting shall continue depends on a number of conditions. One of these is climate, another is your own condition of strength, while a third is the kind of work you are engaged in and what your habits are.

If you live in a fairly hot climate, where evaporation from the skin is rapid, you must drink plenty of water along with your fasting and not have it continue more than two or three days. Persons who are naturally robust and "good feeders" can continue their ordinary occupations while fasting without any let-up in efficiency for a week or more. Those engaged in hard manual labor or vigorous outdoor work will find it to their advantage, while fasting, to be sure and get the full amount of rest required.

How to fast; abstain from eating for one day and see how it affects you. Do your regular routine work. You might eat a very light breakfast, but no other food during the day. Drink five or six glasses of water. Fasting gives a rest to your digestive system.

Fasting may be of two kinds: complete abstinence, during a certain period, or eating a small amount of carefully selected food at regular intervals during your fasting period or as long as you desire. It is something to be carried out like exercise.

Do not expect yourself to be changed into a new person in one day of fasting. It may become a habit with you to fast, so eat with great moderation and thereby increase your bodily health and longevity.

LONDON—Street singers are gleaming a golden harvest in London just now. A young Manchester man, fined in court, went into the streets, sang and earned enough to pay the fine. Many are refusing offers of 8 pounds a week in orchestras, to sing in the gutters and snatch the passerby's shilling.

Engineer Dies at Throttle as Chicago Train Speeds On Chicago—Henry N. Hullison, sixty-eight, fell dead at the throttle of a passenger train of the Chicago Great Western railroad Thursday night as he was piloting it out of the city for its dash to Kansas City. His fireman stopped the engine and helped lower Hullison's body to a track foreman at the crossing. Then he drove the train to the yards at Forty-sixth avenue, where another engineer took the throttle.
